If you want to own a business that is profitable, sustainable, and in high demand, this is the opportunity you've been looking for.

The legal requirements and ethical responsibilities to safely and thoroughly destroy confidential information have fueled an explosive growth in the secure document destruction industry.

Providing both recurring container and scheduled purge services, entrepreneurs worldwide have embraced this lucrative industry that is growing by twenty to thirty percent a year. Many have also discovered that offering mobile document destruction is a perfect complement to an existing business.

Mobile document shredding is driven by legislation designed to protect the privacy of businesses and individuals. Recent pieces of legislation having the biggest impact include California vs. Greenwood, HIPAA (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act), GLBA (Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act), Bill C-6, and FACTA (Fair and Accurate Transaction Act).

Hospitals and medical providers, as well as banks and financial institutions, are required to protect patient, client and consumer information. With so many personal details collected, and so much sensitive information created, almost every business is affected by these personal privacy laws.

Corporations must also protect themselves against espionage, safeguard trade secrets and guard proprietary information. The Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) estimates that US corporations lose more than $24 billion each year to information theft. From a business standpoint, the most economical, secure, cost efficient and environmentally friendly manner of properly destroying and disposing of sensitive information is on-site secure document destruction.

There are a few important benefits to consider about owning your own mobile document destruction business. This security business is perfect for start-up operations, it requires a few dedicated employees and has low operating overhead. This industry is stable, sales-driven and has proven growth consistency.

Typically, the low-turnover customer base consists of a large number of accounts that usually pay within 45 days. Bad debt is almost unheard of in this business. The destroyed paper is a recyclable commodity that creates an ongoing revenue stream.

Unlike franchises, there are no royalties, territory limitations or franchise fees. Attractive exit strategies and an exceptional return on investment also differentiate the independent on-site document destruction opportunity Shred-Tech is offering.

Finally, purchasing the right equipment can broaden service capabilities to include product destruction opportunities. Shred-Tech equipment is the most dependable in the industry, with a 24/7 service hotline and strategically located service centers throughout the United States. As with any business venture, knowledge is power. Shred-Tech can assist you with start-up information and ideas, including equipment training and business operations manuals.

The mobile document shredding industry is still in its infancy so it's not too late. Take your first step to financial independence by calling Shred-Tech today!
